Dear Brothers:

It has been a privilege over the past few years to serve as your Worthy Grand Estimator. An experience, though challenging, that has been incredibly gratifying and truly built an even stronger relationship for me to this fraternity. Being involved at the top level has given me further appreciation for everyone that came before and helped shape this fraternity to be the great organization that I am proudly a part of today. With that said, it has been incredibly difficult to come to my decision to resign from my term as Worth Grand Estimator. My husband and I are very excited to be expecting our first child in March, and understanding the great amount of time needed to prepare for Convention, as well as the continued time required to perform the responsibilities of this position through the end of my term, it seems only fair to my family and the fraternity to step down. Over the past several months I have been working with Brother Emily Lewis to expose her to the responsibilities of the position and continue to work with her to help transition following her appointment by the Grand Council to Worthy Grand Estimator.

Lastly I want to take this opportunity to thank everyone that has helped me on this journey, especially those of which I have had the honor of serving with on the Grand Council. I am also incredibly thankful for all the appointees, volunteers, and brothers that I have had the honor to meet and work with along the way. You have all been such a big part in this amazing chapter of my membership in Alpha Rho Chi.

Fidelitas, Amor et Artes,

Emily K. Bowers
